Well hello hello!

After yesterday's non-stop schedule, a full nights sleep was not a problem for everyone last night! Today wasn't jam packed but was a late start then an early finish, so it was easier to keep up with than yesterday!

After eating breakfast at the hotel, we set out and took the tube to Waterloo Station where we found our first stop; the British Film Institute. As soon as we exited the station, the first thing we saw was the IMAX theatre run by the BFI. Later we found out that this is where many London IMAX premieres take place.

Once we entered the BFI we met our tour guide Suzie who took us through the different theatres within the BFI. Here, we discussed the art of film preservation, as well as restoration. Suzie took us through a slide show that gave us a glimpse of the film archives which is home to over 6 million films/television shows and documentaries etc. The archives are not

6. Add your headline, text and pictures or a video for each day. Every image should not exceed a max. file size of 1MB.

A text editor will make text formatting easy (no HTML required). Don't forget to save your entry each time by clicking on the green arrow!

After leaving the BFI we once again caught the Tube to Woodlane Station. We took a break for lunch which gave us an opportunity to eat and explore the Westfield Shopping Centre; London's largest.

Day 11, May 30th - Munich, Germany

This morning, the students enjoyed a bus guided tour of the city of Munich. Our guide showed us many important landmarks of the city and brought us to the Nymphenburg Palace. The castle is about 20 minutes outside of Munich and is not one to be missed! The lavish rooms are decorated from floor to ceiling with
